HIRED TWO FIRMS

BURNS & McDONALD AND H. PHILLIPS EMPLOYED.

WORK TO START AT ONCE

Board of Public Works Met Monday Night and Signed Contracts With These Engineering Firms.

The board of public works met Monday evening and employed Burns & McDonald of Kansas City and Hiram Phillips of St. Louis as the two engineering firms to do the preliminary work as to taking the valuation of the present city water company and what improvements are needed, as to what a new plant would cost and as to making tests for well water as a source of city supply. The firm whose report and suggestions are the best will be hired by the board to oversee the work of either improving the old plant or constructing a new one.

Work will probably start about October 19. Manager Street of the city water company wants to be here at the time the valuation of the water plant is taken, and he can't be here before that time, so the board delayed in starting until about that time.

The two engineering firms are to work independentiy of one another. By this way of having two firms the board believes that about as true a value as possible will be had.

MISSOURI CROP REPORT.

Contains Interesting Information from the Farmers of State.

The following report, showing Missouri crop conditions at the close of September, was issued Saturday from the office of T. C. Wilson, secretary of the Missouri state board of agriculture.

Corn—The condition of corn now or at the time of cutting is .74. One month ago it was .71; one year ago, 85.8. Quality is placed at .78, but with continued rainfall it will be much less. From every section of the state come complaints of corn spoiling in the shock and of much wormy, defective corn. Many ears are chaffy, with grains loose on cob. Several counties report some corn for shipment, but on the other hand a few counties will be short. The part of the corn crop safe from frost is placed at 84 per cent, as compared with .70 one year ago and .90 two years ago. Fifty-two per cent of the crop has been cut for fodder or placed in silos. Taking the state as a whole the price per shock paid hands who boarded themselves has been 9.2 cents; where hands were furnished board, 7.7 cents. Of 388 correspondents who answered the question as to whether or not it had been hard to get hands to cut corn 261 replied in the affirmative. Reports from 2,145 farms, representing more than 100 counties in the state show 9.4 per cent of the farmers using corn harvesters for the first time this year. Some of these are binders, others sleds, etc. Reports from 2,150 farms, representing 110 counties of the state, show 5.6 per cent of the farmers using silos for the first time this year. Should these figures hold true for the entire state they indicate a wonderful increase.

Wheat—Too much rain has greatly interfered with wheat sowing, yet 50 per cent of the ground has been seeded. Soil condition is .89. Acreage as compared with last year is placed at 116.4 per cent, but these figures are not final. Complaint comes from a few counties of fall army worms working on wheat and other vegetation.

Other crops—Acreage of timothy seed threshed as compared with last year is 45.4; yield, 2.4 bushels; clover, 47.4; yield, 1.7 bushels. Later reports may change these figures somewhat. Condition of cotton, which has been injured by wet weather, is 81; tobacco, 75; pastures, which have greatly improved, 92.

Turkeys—The Missouri turkey crop is reported as only 92 as compared with an average year.

INSPECTED SCHOOLS

COUNTY SUPT. OAKERSON HAS VISITED FORTY OF THEM.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS

But Elm Grove Has Done the Greatest Amount of Improving of Any of the Forty He Has Inspected.

County Superintendent Oakerson has inspected forty rural schools since the rural schools opened, Sept. 4. Mr. Oakerson says that the Elm Grove school, north of Maryville, has done the greatest amount of improving of any of the forty he has visited. They have met the conditions for a credited school and will soon be placed on the list as a first-class rural school.

The improvements, Mr. Oakerson says, that were made by the Elm Grove school this year were to install a $105 heating plant, put in an entire new set of desks and a new Silicate blackboard, the school room was papered, new foundation put under the school building, and install a fully equipped library, a good set of maps and globe for school use.

A number of other schools made various improvements, such as building cloak rooms, painting school building, papering and frescoeing inside, new blackboards, additional books for library, cement platforms and walks, and new outbuildings, says Mr. Oakerson.

Two schools visited by County Superintendent Oakerson met the conditions for approval as first class rural schools—Elm Grove and Unity, the first school district east of Hopkins.

CAPITOL MEN SELECTED.

Pierce of Maryville Received the Vote of Gov. Hadley on One Ballot.

Jefferson City, Oct. 3.—Here are the four men who will supervise the building of Missouri's new capitol: E. W. Stephens, Columbia, and J. C. A. Hilker, St. Louis county, Democrats, and A. A. Speer, Chamois, and Theodore Lacoff, Nevada, Republicans.

The law requires the commissioners to meet and organize within thirty days after their selection. It is likely that they will meet either the last of this week or the first of next.

The board met Monday and Gov. Hadley submitted the names of Henry Kiel of St. Louis, W. C. Root of Kansas City, J. H. Rothwell of Sedalia, A. A. Speer of Chamois, A. J. O'Reilley of St. Louis and Theodore Lacoff of Nevada, from which to select the two Republican commissioners. Balloting then started, some of the Democratic members voting for Republicans not on the governor's list. On the sixth ballot Mr. Speer was elected, and on the twelfth ballot Mr. Lacoff was elected.

In addition to the names presented by Governor Hadley votes were cast at various times for these men: E. C. Meisser, St. Louis; Joseph Black, Richmond; Judge Asbury Barkhead, Ava; Colonel W. A. Dallmier, Jefferson City; Charles Keifner, Perryville; Edward Clark, Nevada; Cyrus Crane and W. R. Caulkins, Carthage; W. E. Leach, St. Louis; D. F. Burnside, Poplar Bluff; W. J. Campbell, T. S. Reed, Samuel Edwards and F. C. Gardner, Kansas City, and W. C. Pierce, Maryville.

PICKWICK AND PECKSNIFF.

"Let us reason together," said the president in Iowa; "let us be charitable and kind. Let us not be so suspicious and ascribe corrupt motives to everyone in the community but our particular friends and political associates. Let us do team work in the community. Let us have legislation that helps, or an absence of legislation, if it be unnecessary."

In whose behalf was all this benevolence expressed? To whom were we exhorted to be charitable and kind? For whom were we urged to do team work? Against whom do our unwarranted suspicions run?

It cannot be the congress of the United States, controlled by a majority made up of Democrats and Republicans, for the president himself within a month has denounced these representatives of the people for "playing politics," as ignorant, as blacksmiths, as destructive demagogues and as hybrids and hodgepodges.

What person or thing, then, did he have in mind? He was speaking in behalf of "great corporations," otherwise known as trusts. It was for the trusts that he asked kindness and charity. It is the trusts with which he beseeches us to do team work. It is of the trusts that we are to modify our unreasonable suspicions. It is for the trusts also that we are to enact legislation that helps.

Falling from a man who killed by veto the only well directed effort ever made by congress to relieve the people of the burdens placed upon them by the trusts, this is remarkable language. In it we probably have a better explanation of Mr. Taft's hostility to tariff reduction downward than has been supplied by any of his other speeches or messages. His compassion toward the cormorant corporations is great. His heart overflows toward those who are in error or distress. He would have peace and brotherhood everywhere. But all this good will must be bottomed on his own false, stultifying and slanderous vetoes!

We do not believe that charity is to abide with the American people on these terms. It is not the people who are in the wrong in this matter. They are not the ones who should be lectured and schoolmastered and admonished. They have done nothing, they have asked nothing, that was not right. The president who now preaches sweetness and light to them has done nothing with respect to the tariff fortified trusts that was not wrong.

There is just as much regard for charity and truth and team work and beneficial legislation among the people as there is in the White House. These virtues are not now at issue. There is, however, a very emphatic issue involving justice, fair play and good faith. It does not lie in the mouth of any man who betrays a party and a people to discourse to them on the minor morals.

Pickwick could not have made such an utterance as that above quoted. And Pecksniff could not, but it is possible that a combination of Pickwick and Pecksniff might have managed it.—St. Louis Republic.

Girls at Boarding School.

"Is your boarding school located in a healthy part of the country?" you ask the school girl, busily engaged packing her trunk to return to her studies.

"I suppose so," she replies, lightheartedly. "I have never thought about it, though I must confess I have had bronchial trouble ever since I have been there—an ailment I never had before in my life."

And then you observe the clothing laid out ready to be packed. Union garments of finest mousseline and lace, low neck gauzy undervests, cobweby silk stockings, low shoes and slippers and lingerie frocks.

"Surely you are not taking a summer outfit to wear during winter in a middle state?" you exclaim.

"Our girls wear exactly the same clothing summer and winter," she replies merrily. "The school building is kept at summer heat always."

"But when you go outdoors?"

"Oh, I have told mother—and she knows I mean it—that I simply must have an all-fur coat this winter—no matter what it costs. I've got to have it." And the chances are she will get it.

Here was a girl in the blossomy youth and delicacy of sweet 16, entering, with her mother's full knowledge, upon a suicidal regime of daily living. Four winters spent under such conditions are apt to reduce her from a buoyant, healthy young creature to an anaemic invalid, a querulous young person who will go shivering about a normally heated house muffled in shawls.

The truth of the matter is mothers send their young daughters to fashionable boarding schools so thinly clad that the heads of schools are obliged to keep their buildings too hot for health in order to have the girls comfortable at all. The schools are expensive, the pupils are children of the wealthy class, hence insufficient clothing is not due to economy of expense, but neither the foolish mothers nor the girls themselves consider it good form to be warmly, sensibly and comfortably clothed. The pupils are adorned in gauzy, shivery stuffs, and become hothouse plants withdrawn from cold and discomforted by every change of temperature. Is not the body more than raiment—the beautiful, strong, healthful body that should be the casket for the healthful, happy soul? Alack and alas, that foolish women do not realize this truth!—Baltimore Sun.

Mason and Wilderman Had Great Time at Detroit, Mich.

Mason & Wilderman, local distributers for the Studebaker Corporation, returned yesterday from Detroit, Mich., where he has been the guest of General Manager Walter E. Flanders of the Studebaker Corporation-E-M-F factories.

They joined the Studebaker special train at Kansas City, Wednesday at 7 a. m., arriving in Detroit on Thursday at 10 a. m., where he spent two days inspecting the E-M-F factories, and enjoying the hospitality of Mr. Flanders, the great automobile manufacturer. They speak in glowing terms of the trip, and especially of the hospitality of the Studebaker Corporation.

"We were not the only guests of Mr. Flanders. In fact, we were two of the party of dealers from this section who were personally invited to go to Detroit and inspect the facilities the company have for turning out Flanders '20' and E-M-F '30' cars.

"We understand the Studebaker Corporation is spending over $75,000 in entertaining all its dealers in a similar fashion. Special trains are run from various sections of the country to Detroit and back, and every item of the dealer's expense is paid from the time he leaves home until he returns. The object, of course, is to show their manufacturing facilities and how they produce quality cars. Mr. Flanders told us that one object he had in mind in bringing us to Detroit was to convince us that the Studebaker Corporations actually will be able to procure in the coming season the 50,000 cars it his promised its dealers. During the past twelve months, as everybody knows, we have been unable to get more than one car for every four we could have sold; nevertheless the company was turning out 100 cars per day. I was permitted to look over the records at Detroit, so I know that I got my full quota. In short, we were not the only ones who were in a similar position—there are many others.

"We confess that until our visit to Detroit we were just a little skeptical of the ability of any company to build 50,000 automobiles in twelve months. We had expressed that skepticism in a letter to Mr. Flanders personally, and his response was 'Come and see.' And he provided a special train of such sumptuous appointments that it was not surpassed by those on which railway magnates travel on their inspection tours. There was every comfort that heart could desire—and the stomach was not overlooked. We had a royal good time at Detroit. We spent one day in the big plant No. 1, where E-M-F '30' cars are made; and then we spent a day in a still larger one, plant No. 3, where Flanders '20' cars are made from the pig iron to the complete, fully equipped car.

"It was the most interesting experience we have ever had, and we feel as if we know our product better than ever before. We know just how the cars are made and just how the quality is put into them. Add to this the fact that we had the pleasure of meeting personally all the important heads of departments in the enormous organization, and you will understand that we now feel as if I were indeed one of the family. Perhaps the most pleasant part of the whole time was the evening we spent at Mr. Flanders' home, on Green Lake. There Mr. Flanders owns about 1,200 acres of beautiful rolling hills and lakeside property. In fact, his property completely surrounds Green Lake. There he likes to think he is a farmer, and there he gets his recreation and relaxation from the arduous duties of managing the largest automobile factory in the world.

"To know Mr. Flanders at his home one could not imagine that he is the administrator of a concern doing a business of over $50,000,000.00 a year. He is a true American of the New England type, and to meet him once is to know him under all conditions. We were pleased to find that he was so thoroughly conversant with all our own affairs and was anxious to help us out in our little difficulties."

"We are going to try to give you as many automobiles as you will be able to sell," said Mr. Flanders.

"After walking for hours at a time through great lanes of machinery and seeing hundreds of million dollars worth of stock in process of manufacture, we are thoroughly convinced that we will be more nearly able to meet the demand for Flanders '20' and E-M-F '30' cars next year than we have ever been before. Of course, that is not saying we will get enough.

"The demand always seems to keep ahead of the supply on these cars, and while the shortage of E-M-F '30s' was a most serious problem last year, it looks as if Flanders '20' is going to be our chief problem this year, because this car is now the most popular car in America, and its wonderful performance in road contests and hill climbing is increasing its popularity daily."

They were enthusiastic in their description of Detroit, which is the world's greatest automobile center, as well as one of the most beautiful cities in America.

"We devoted several hours to driving about the several parks and boulevards of Detroit, and our trip to Mr. Flanders' home and back was over thirty-two miles of road, a part of which was over the beautiful Bloomfield Hills. Few places in America have more charms than this. And, what with the sight-seeing and charming hospitality of Mr. Flanders and his delightful little wife, to say nothing of the trip there and back on the luxurious special train, we felt more like millionaires who had been on a ste[amer]

GLASS CONFUSING TO THEM

Birds and Fish Do Not Easily Learn That They Cannot Penetrate It.

A correspondent recently reported what he described as the "curious freak" of a blackbird flying against a parlor window many times at the same spot.

Such an incident is not uncommon. Birds have been known to fight for hours at a time, day after day, with their own image reflected in a pane of glass, pecking and fluttering against the pane and quite exhausting themselves in their fury to demolish the supposed rival. It is another instance of how the arts of our civilization corrupt and confuse the birds. It is the same with fishes.

Darwin tells a story of a pike in an aquarium separated by plate glass from fish which were its proper food. In trying to get at the fish the pike would often dash with such violence against the glass as to be completely stunned. It did this for more than three months before it learned caution. Then when the glass was removed the pike would not attack those particular fishes, but would devour others freshly introduced.

It did not at all understand the situation, but associated the punishment it had received not with the glass, but with a particular kind of fish. Darwin's American monkeys proved themselves more "knowing." When they cut themselves once with any sharp tool they would not touch it again or else would handle it with the greatest caution.

Thus they gave evidence of the simpler forms of reason of which monkeys are no doubt capable but birds are evidently lacking in reasoning powers.—The Scotsman.

TALES OF THE TELEPHONE

Its Exploitation in England Seemed Impossible Until Queen Victoria Became Interested.

The United States has eight telephones for every hundred of population, while no other country has half as many. Following the establishment on a solid basis of the American telephone system work for European exploitation was early begun. The results were hardly encouraging.

Five-eighths of the British rights were purchased for $500 by a Providence man, says the National Magazine. After working in London four months he could not find any one who would put a shilling in the telephone.

An English review said of it: "The telephone is little better than a toy. It amuses the English, but is inferior to the well established system of air tubes."

The victory was won at last by Kate Field, who sang "Kathleen Mavourneen" over the telephone to Queen Victoria. The queen was delighted, asked Bell if she might buy two telephones, and it was not long before all England was interested. An exchange with ten wires was opened in London, and in April, 1879, Theodore Vail sent an order to the factory in Boston in his terse, characteristic way: "Please make 100 hand telephones for export trade as early as possible."

Have Grave Garments Ready.

In an account of the death, at the age of one hundr[ed] and four, of Lucy Hickey at Gloucester there appeared the interesting item that she was buried in a shroud which she had made for herself many years ago. "This may look strange to most people," said a resident of the East side, "but not to the old-fashioned Jews. I am sure that if you go through any of the tenement houses in this part of the city you will find in the majority of homes the shrouds of all men and women who are married. It is an old custom to have the grave garments ready, and with some of the people it is considered a shame not to be properly provided in case of death. The garments are usually of fine texture and invariably 'hand sewed.'"

The $13 Fine.

Courtrooms are not free from superstition," a lawyer remarked. "For instance, it seems to be an unwritten law of the bench that nobody shall ever be fined $13. In my seventeen years' experience at the New York bar I have seen offenders fined nearly every other amount from $1 to $1,000, but no judge has ever defied fate by imposing a $13 fine.

"Nothing but respect for superstition prevented him from doing it. It was the logical fine. Several times I have labored in the lost cause of unfortunate clients whose fine from the standpoint of damages inflicted should have been $13, but the judge had not the hardihood to name it; he always undershot or overshot the mark and made $12 or $14."

No Escape.

"These New York doctors and dentists put up a game on their patients that makes the hen-and-egg proposition seem as easy as A, B, C," said the man who complained that he hasn't been "feeling just right."

"The other day I consulted a doctor. He said he could do nothing for me till I got my teeth fixed, so my digestion would improve, but when I went to the dentist he recommended he sent me back to the doctor because it wasn't worth while to work on my teeth until my general system got toned up, so they caught me coming and going."

HE COPYRIGHTED A FACADE

French Architect Sued the Imitators and the Case Was Decided Against His Heirs.

The strangest copyright question ever debated came before a Paris court, when it was asked to decide the controverted copyright of a house. An architect at Boulogne-sur-Seine had built several apartment houses on a piece of ground belonging to him and had devised an original facade of colored bricks. He, at least, considered it original, as when the houses were finished he had a plate, with an inscription, placed on the walls, to the effect that the facade of the house was his copyright and imitations were prohibited. Seeing a building in Paris some time afterwards which had just been completed, the architect thought that the facade, which was also of colored bricks, was nothing but an imitation of his own. He began a lawsuit against the owner and the architect for infringement of the copyright laws, but soon afterward he died. His heirs, however, continued the lawsuit, which has now been decided by the court. Three experts were called. They agreed that the facade of the house at Boulogne-sur-Seine was peculiar, and might even be allowed the protection of the copyright laws; but, on the other hand, the house built in Paris was equally original and there was no proof that it had been copied from the others. The architect, or rather his heirs, therefore, lost their case.

LEARNED TO EAT LEATHER

How Morgan's Pirates Managed to Swallow and Digest It to Avoid Starvation.

The infamous Captain Morgan and his piratical crew were sometimes in tight places at Panama, and on one occasion were reduced to eating their leather bags. "Some persons," says one of the company, Exquemelin (whose narrative is reproduced in "The Buccaneers in the West Indies"), "who never were out of their mothers' kitchens may ask how these pirates could eat, swallow and digest these pieces of leather, so hard and dry. Unto whom I only answer: That could they once experiment with hunger, or, rather, famine is, they would certainly find the manner, by their own necessity, as the pirates did. For these first took the leather and sliced it in pieces. Then did they beat it between two stones and rub it, often dipping it in the water of the river, to render it by these means supple and tender. Lastly, they scraped off the hair, and roasted or broiled it upon the fire. And being thus cooked they cut it into small morsels and ate it, helping it down with frequent gulps of water, which by good fortune they had right at hand."

Gratefully Received.

A charitable man in Birkenhead once sent a bundle of cast-off clothing to a philanthropic society. He received from one of the recipients of garments given away by the society the following note:

"The community man giv' me, amongst other things, what he called a pair of inexpressibles. I found your name and where you lived in one of the pockets. My wife laffed so when I showed 'em to her that I thot she would have a fit. She wants to know if there lives and breathes a man who has legs no bigger than that. She sed if there was, he orter be taken up for vagransy for having no visible means of support. I couldn't get 'em on my eldest boy, so I used 'em for my gun-cases. If you have another pair to spere, my wife would like to get 'em to hang up by the side of the fireplace to keep the tongs in."—London Telegraph.

Retort Courteous.

At a dinner party the other day a prig inquired of his neighbor, a plain woman who talked a lot, "Tell me why isn't a woman like a looking-glass?"

She gave it up, of course, and then he told her with a smirk—"Because a looking-glass reflects without speaking, but a woman speaks without reflecting."

She flushed slightly, but the next moment she had him. "That is quite clever," she said, with a charming smile. "Now perhaps you can tell me, Mr.—, the difference between your sex and a looking-glass."

He confessed his inability.

"Well, you see," she answered, and everyone was listening now, "well, you see, a mirror is polished. I don't think some men's manners always are, do you?"

Easily Learned.

"Did you learn any French while you were in Paris?" asked Bildad, meeting Slithers shortly after his return from Europe.

"Oh, a little," said Slithers. "Not so very much, though. I got so I could say cigarette in French."

"Good!" said Bildad. "What is cigarette in French?"

"'Cigarette,'" said Slithers.—Harper's Weekly.

"Can you keep your face straight?"

"Of course I can."

FROM YE OLDE STYLE PAPER.

Here is a small sample of how some "bold pilots of the rural press," show ability to steer clear of libel rocks:

While at New Salem last week, we met, at Holden's Cafe, that well bred young farmer, James Caster, from the North Fork of the Knife. Although for surliness and taciturnity, Jimmie ordinarily takes the cake, we were surprised to see him, on this occasion, decidedly in spirits. His cup of joy appeared to be fairly bubbling over, happiest man you ever saw, sir. We were unable to account for the remarkable change, until we had learned that he had brought his wife down, to take the train for Bismark, where she will spend a couple of weeks with her mother. We will not go so far as to say that we envied the farmer, but being ourself a married man, we sought no further for the cause of his changed demeanor.

* * *

This community was startled Monday morning by the announcement that the wife of "Dissolute Dick" Dinsmore had presented her lord with triplets—all girls. We learn that the unfortunate father, who already had nine girls—and little else—insisted upon calling the diminutive trio, "Disappointment," "Disaster," and "Despair," respectively, these having been his sole successive remarks, as they were handed to him, one by one, for his horrified inspection. Though we have little use for men of the Dinsmore stripe, still, being ourself a father, in a small way, we are able in some degree, to sympathize with Dick, in his deluge of juvenile feminity.

* * *

We have just learned with some surprise, that the wife and daughter of Daniel Hutsman left on Tuesday for an extended trip to Minneapolis and points further east. While we do not wish to appear unduly censorious, not to have our remarks considered as being in any way personal, we are unable to stifle the thought that if some persons would pay their honest debts, before sending their women folks away on expensive trips, their credit at home would be improved, and the robber railroads would collect fewer fares.

* * *

It becomes our painful duty to chronicle the death, by drowning, of Robert Pixley of Pinto, known to many of our readers as "The Boozer." While returning from the county seat, Friday night, carrying his usual load, he stumbled into a water hole, in Kinnaman Creek, at a point not a hundred yards from his own shack, where his body was found by two neighbor boys the following morning. Some well meaning, but mistaken person has sent us a highly laudatory obituary notice, which we regret not being able to print. Our opinion of Pixley's mode of life has been often and plainly enough expressed to be well known to our readers, and we see no reason in the fact, or the manner of his death, why we should change it. The best we can consent to do is to make our usual concession to death in such cases—absolute silence.—The Mercer County (N. D.) Mirror.

FLOODED TOWN NEEDS HELP

Not Enough Laborers to Take Out Remaining Bodies.

FIRE BREAKS OUT IN DEBRIS

Bread Line is Formed and Sightseers Are Turned Back From Town—Supplies Guarded by State Officers.

Austin, Pa., Oct. 3.—Twenty-four known dead, 86 missing and believed to be buried beneath the debris, is the official census of Austin's loss of life in the flood of Saturday.

Allowing for errors in compilation, the total dead probably will reach 150.

The problem is to recover the dead from the thousands of tons of debris choking the narrow valley. To do so before it becomes necessary to burn the ruins and save the living from an epidemic, many laborers must reach the town within the next 36 hours. Otherwise the wreckage must be burned.

The single wire between Austin and the outside world carried an urgent plea for workmen to the mayors of Buffalo, Pittsburg and Philadelphia. The messages were sent by Dr. Samuel C. Dixon, state commissioner of health.

Smoldering flames in the debris have burst forth anew, but it is not believed that any bodies were burned.

Across the street from the morgue life insurance companies nailed their shingles to a tree near a small shack, topping them with a sign, "Inquire Within." A file of weeping women took turns at recording their claims.

Dr. Dixon has issued an order that no one except employes of the state health department, other state officials and newspaper correspondents should be allowed in the flood zone. This order was issued because news of the disaster had attracted thousands of persons to Austin. Few of these sightseers brought in anything to eat and they have applied to the public commissary in such numbers that flood victims have been crowded out and but for the citizens' committee the deserving would have had to go hungry.

A bread line was formed for the first time. Heretofore relief had been extended to the needy by neighbors or friends. Supplies were placed in Odd Fellows hall and they were given out systematically to the needy.

F. Herbert Snow, state sanitary engineer, who is in charge of getting out the bodies and clearing away the wreckage, has sent a requisition for several hundred carpenters, and they are being rushed here on a special train with tools. Lumber is available from the ruins.

Twenty-five coffins have reached here and more are expected. Burial permits are issued as rapidly as identification proceeds. Several bodies were taken to nearby towns but most of the victims will be buried in Austin's cemetery which was untouched by the flood.

REAR ADMIRAL SCHLEY IS DEAD

Dropped Dead on Street in New York While on the Way Down Town.

New York, Oct. 3.—Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Schley died suddenly near the corner of Forty-fourth street and Fifth avenue while on his way down town. The admiral was dead before medical aid could reach him.

Admiral Schely was born in Frederick county, Maryland, in 1839. At the age of 17 he got an appointment to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

It was in February, 1898, that he reached the rank of commodore. When war was declared between the United States and Spain he was placed in command of the "Flying Squadron;" although he was the youngest of the commodores and the lowest in the list. It was May 13 that he sailed southward from Hampton Roads with orders to find and destroy the Spanish fleet of Admiral Cevera. History tells how well he performed the work assigned to him.

Takes Stand in Own Defense.

Milwaukee, Oct. 3.—Senator Isaac Stephenson of Wisconsin took the witness stand to answer charges that bribery and other corrupt use of money contributed to his election, March 4, 1909. He appeared as a witness at the opening of the investigation begun by a sub-committee of the committee on privileges and elections of the United States Senate.

Steamer Sank in Collision.

London, Oct. 3.—The British steamer Hatfield from Huelva, Spain, for Rotterdam, was in a collision with the British steamer Glasgow, from Rotterdam for Dundee. It sank and all the members of its crew, numbering about twenty men, were drowned.

Army Maneuvers to Cost Less.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Adhering to its policy of holding joint maneuvers by the army and the militia the war department is perfecting plans for the maneuvers next year. They will cost $50,000 less than in 1910.

"Yes, sometimes I do," he admitted. "It frequently happens that I'm asked to wait for my pay."

See This Showing of Best Quality Messaline Satin

We are especially enthusiastic over this showing of best quality messaline satin. Quality is woven in every thread—and it shows it. To see just how good it is compare it with the cheaper grades and note the difference. It is heavy, without being stiff, and the surface has a fine sheen.

Nineteen of the favored shades to select from, truly, a great assortment—

Ivory	Lilac	Navy
Pink	Nile	Reseda
Ciel (light blue)	Helen Pink	Old Rose
Mais (straw)	Champagne	Copenhagen
Coronation Purple	Green (two shades)	Scarlet
Brown	Myrtle	Red

The superior quality and the durability of this messaline satin warrants us in saying that it is the best value for the price to be found. 27 inches wide; the yd. $1.00.

Beautiful New Messaline Silks

BLACK MESSALINE SILKS, two grades, $1.50 and $1.25 a yard, both 36 inches wide.

A Little Talk on Dress Goods

If a thing is worth doing, it is worth doing well—the proverb is as true today as it ever was.

Thoroughness is a typical characteristic of this store—the thoroughness which gets to the bottom of production and makes sure it is right; the thoroughness which reaches out over the market to make sure that our stocks are complete and best.

Our Dress Goods stock, with its great spread of fall fabrics, illustrates the point.

It is probable that such a well selected and beautiful display of new dress fabrics was never made at this season and in this way. And yet this great showing, unusual though it is, gives but an index to the richness of the fall stock in the store.

If a thing is new and good your are very sure to find it here—and to find it earliest.

One of the newest fabrics, and one that is having a great demand, is this:

Double Faced Dress Goods

Everywhere you hear of coats and suits made of double-faced fabrics, with the reverse side showing in the large collars, the revers and the cuffs. There is nothing in better style. We have a selection of fabrics that contains the very best patterns, mostly mannish mixtures, with some checks and solid colors, that [illegible] have seen yet.

The prices range from $1.50 to $3.00 a yard.

Special Value Dress Goods at 48c a Yard

Most Dress Goods offered at around 50c a yard are flimsy and short lived. But ours is different, as the 48c value which we are now featuring testifies.

Mostly mixtures and herringbone stripes. In the most desirable colors. Now, the yard, 48c.

The Blunt Falls Here.

Simultaneously with the report from Kansas City that a man has been granted a divorce because his wife was a suffragette and too active in politics comes the announcement of a new flier from local suffragette headquarters dealing with the relation between suffrage and matrimony. Mrs. Calvin N. Gabriel, who is conducting the active work of the Just Government League at this time, is responsible for the sentiments thereon expressed, and when asked this morning what she thought of the Missouri man said she preferred to let the circular speak for itself and for the league.

She doesn't want to say exactly what she thinks of the courts and the judges in the western city that grant a decree on such grounds. "They probably thought that they were doing the poor woman a kindness in freeing her from an unappreciative beast," said she.

And these are the "thoughtlets" which fit in so nicely with the act of the court in the western city:

1. Any man who believes in the American doctrine of no taxation without representation should refrain from marrying a suffragette out of regard for his own consistency.

2. Any man who, in the light of the advancing Twentieth Century, and in the presence of the record of experience, is content to remain such a mossback as to rank himself with the opponents of equal suffrage, should not marry a suffragette, because he would be much happier with an ignorant and unthinking woman.

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH

A Harmless Remedy, Made from Garden Sage, Restores Color to Gray Hair.

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs, which, unfortunately, are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hairs, however, are not always an indication of advancing age, for many people have gray hairs quite early in life. Of course, it is unnatural, and indicates that there is something wrong with the individual, and that nature needs assistance in correcting the trouble. The same is true of hair that is constantly falling out and becoming thinner every day. If everything is right with nature, the hair, even in comparatively elderly people, should be long, thick and glossy, without even a streak of gray.

The [illegible] assistant to nature in restoring and preserving the hair is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a clean and wholesome dressing for daily use. It not only removes dandruff, but strengthens weak, thin and falling hair and promotes its growth. A few applications will restore faded or gray hair to its natural color.

Get a bottle today, and let it do for you what it has done for thousands of others.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agents, Koch Pharmacy.

In all nations and in all ages the conflict has gone on. In all nations and in all ages it will go on—the strong against the weak, the rich against the poor, the learned against the ignorant; and the resistance will be no less continued and no less determined. We have risen far; we shall rise yet higher; but we must remember that freedom comes only by eternal vigilance.—Patron's Helper.

ONE WAY OF SAVING A BABY—FREE TO TRY

The mother does not live who would not do all in her power to keep her child healthy, but often she does not know how. So when a doctor of standing points the way all can afford to listen.

It is an accepted fact that nine out of ten of the troubles of infants and children is intestinal. You notice it by the fact that the child is constipated, it belches, is peevish and cries. Don't give a remedy that contains an opiate, because the child will get in the habit of needing it, and don't become alarmed and run at once for a doctor.

Try a scientific laxative first. Give a small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the remedy that is intended for the use of children. It is mild, gentle and non-griping. The remedy is absolutely pure and is guaranteed in every particular. Mrs. Toomey of Emingsville, Pa., and Mrs. Fred Croms of Alanson, Mich., never give their children anything else. These are only a few among thousands of women.

You can buy a fifty cent or one dollar bottle of any nearby druggist, for they have all sold it for a generation, but if you want to test it on your child first send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will cheerfully send you a free sample bottle.

Address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

WAR MAY INVOLVE ALL EUROPE

Servia Begins Preparations for General Warfare in Balkans—Germany Would Persuade Turkey to Surrender.

Malta, Oct. 3.—Word just received from Tripoli says the Turks and Arabs are entrenching behind the city. Sixty thousand Arabs, said to be armed with Mausers, hold a strong position 50 miles behind the town in a country which is an excellent stronghold. An advance guard is situated 20 miles from Tripoli. The Turkish garrison has left the forts.

Seven refugees aboard the Castlegarth went insane from their sufferings.

Sfax, Tunis, Oct. 3—The Arabs here are quiet, but anti-foreign outbreaks are feared. The Greek steamer Alkestis has arrived here with 300 refugees. The Italian squadron is stopping all steamers and has sent several away from Tripoli, one of which carried a number of correspondents.

On Board Italian Warship, Off Tripoli, Oct. 3.—No bombardment of Tripoli has yet taken place. The Italian consul is authority for the statement that the bombardment will begin three days after the notification, which would be Tuesday.

Turkish soldiers guard the Italian consulate and Italian business houses. When the last Italian colonists left the consulate Saturday, where they had spent the night under protection of the German flag, the streets were strongly lined with Turkish troops. Crowds of natives had gathered and hooted and jeered angrily. There were evidences of violent rage on the part of the Arabs and the soldiers prevented a possible massacre. The German consul escorted the refugees to the boats.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 3.—Threatening the tranquillity of Europe, has aroused active war preparations in southern Russia. Russia has com- war in the Balkans, which is menaced the concentration of troops on the border of Turkey.

Rome, Oct. 3.—The dreaded revolt of Tripolitan natives against foreigners has broken out in Benghazi, according to military dispatches just received here. Native Mohammedans, inflamed to frenzy by appeals to their religion, are said to have attacked the city, killing and plundering.

Belgrade, Oct. 3.—Servia has commenced to prepare for general warfare in the Balkans. King Peter has convoked the cabinet and the mobilization of the army was at once ordered. The garrisons on the frontier will be heavily reinforced. Fears are expressed that Turkey will throw an invading army into Servia.

Constantinople, Oct. 3.—Germany is reported to be endeavoring to persuade the Turkish government to end the war with Italy by surrendering to the latter's demands.

NINETY-NINE YEARS OF HUNTING

Tract of 500 Acres Leased in Vernon County by Carthage Sportsmen—To Build Clubhouse.

Nevada, Mo., Oct. 3.—Hunting rights for 99 years on a Vernon county tract of 500 acres have been secured by 19 Carthage, Mo., nimrods. It is perhaps the best tract in Missouri for duck shooting, besides other game. It is one mile east of Horton. A small portion was purchased and the remainder leased. Attorney Thomas Hackney and W. Pher of Carthage closed the deal.

The tract includes a horseshoe curve of the Marmaton river, Mubler lake and has the finest slash shooting in the whole country. Architect Ehlers of this city is drawing plans for a clubhouse to be made from native lumber.

Bay "Joy Rider" Killed.

Chappell, Neb., Oct. 3.—Willie Sudman, 14 years old, son of Fred Sudman, president of the First National Bank of Chappell, was killed, Charles Hudson severely injured and two other boys slightly injured when the motor car in which young Sudman was giving his boy friends a "joy ride" skidded and overturned.

Lumber Hearing on Again.

St. Louis, Oct. 2.—The taking of testimony in Missouri's ouster suit against 31 companies alleged to be in a lumber trust has been resumed here. The suit was filed by Gov. Hadley when he was attorney general in 1907 at the request of the legislature.

COMMISSIONERS ALL CHOSEN

TWO REPUBLICANS SELECTED FROM LIST OF SIX.

Board Which Will Build New Capitol Is Composed of Business Men and Contractors.

Jefferson City, Oct. 3.—A. A. Speer of Chamois, who was speaker of the forty-fifth general assembly, a man of large business experience, and Theodore Lacaff of Nevada, a widely known contractor, were chosen as the two Republican members of the new capitol commission by the board of permanent seat of government.

This completes the appointments upon the commission. The two Democratic members chosen at previous meetings of the board are E. W. Stephens of Columbia and Joseph C. A. Hiller of Glencoe, St. Louis county.

Gov. Hadley suggested after the election of Lacaff that the commission be requested to meet in Jefferson City Friday for the purpose of organization.

Speer and Lacaff were selected from a list of six suggested by Gov. Hadley to his Democratic associates upon the permanent seat of government.

In suggesting these men the governor said there were a number of other estimable Republicans, business men or lawyers, who had been recommended or were applicants, but he deemed it advisable to suggest for appointment men with a technical knowledge of building.

What he wanted to do, he said, was to supplement the business qualifications of the Democratic members with men of building experience, which would tend to round out the board and render it more effective.

MRS. DOWIE TO OPPOSE VOLIVA

Goes Back to Zion City to Reorganize and Bring Together Her Late Husband's Disciples.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Clad in a white surplice and the cape and gown of a doctor of divinity, Mrs. John Alexander Dowie, widow of the late leader of the Church of Zion, made her first attempt to bring together her husband's former disciples. Seventy-five members of the original flock responded to Mrs. Dowie's appeal and met at Handel hall.

In the midst of her address of welcome Mrs. Dowie broke down, and in a voice choked with sobs pleaded for a continuation of the work begun by her husband.

Mrs. Dowie's appearance was the first in public since the death of her husband nearly five years ago. She was enthusiastically received by members of her future tabernacle group, and fealty to the faith of Dowie was pledged by her hearers.

Meetings of the tabernacle will be held weekly, and virtually will oppose the organization controlled by Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion City and the "second divine apostle" of the Church of Zion.

A special mail messenger route was established by the department. It is numbered "Route 607001." It is the longest mail messenger route ever established.

RAILROAD STRIKE TROUBLE BEGINS

Burnside Shops in Chicago Scene of Small Riot.

UNION PICKET IS ARRESTED

Two Carloads of Strikebreakers Sent to Memphis—Coal Shortage at Covington, Tenn.—Not All Out in Kansas City.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Rioting in the strike of the federation of shopmen of the Illinois Central began at the Burnside shops here when strikers attacked strikebreakers on their way to work. A private watchman was handled roughly and a strikebreaker was struck on the head with a brick. Andrew Ceskas, a union picket, was arrested charged with having hurled the brick. The strikebreaker was severely injured but will recover.

The trouble started when strikers bound for a mass meeting passed the shops and saw non-union men on their way to work.

Nearly 4,000 men attended the mass meeting. It was decided to establish a commissary, buying food and distributing it at wholesale prices.

Statements just issued by railroad officials and union leaders who are directing the strike of shop employes on the Harriman railroads including the Illinois Central, still showed a wide variance in estimates of the number of men involved.

According to Julius Kruttschnitt, vice president of the Southern Pacific, but 4,000 men left their work on the Union Pacific lines.

J. A. Franklin, international president of the boilermakers, was equally positive in his assertion that 20,000 or more are out.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 3.—Two carloads of strikebreakers were sent here by the Illinois Central railroad. The strike of the clerks has already caused serious conditions in some places. At Covington, Tenn., a coal shortage, caused by the strike, has caused the closing of the electric light plant.

The issuance of a blanket restraining order in the federal court at Jackson, Miss., covering the state, prohibiting any interference with the affairs of the railroad company or its employes, was the most important development in connection with the strike of clerks and shopmen on the Southern division of the Illinois Central railroad.

Houston, Tex., Oct. 3.—"Hell Roaring" Bill McDonald, for 25 years captain of the Texas Rangers has taken command of an army of guards hired by the Southern Pacific railroad to protect its property during the strike.

Kansas City, Kan., Oct. 3.—One hundred and sixty-nine of the 330 men employed by the Union Pacific in Kansas City, have reported back for work at the shops here.

Sacramento, Cal., Oct. 3.—Southern Pacific officials have redoubled their force of special watchmen and 122 men are now guarding the railroad's property.

Centralia, Ill., Oct. 3.—A strikebreaker, Antonio Marcus, employed by the Illinois Central, was severely injured here by bricks thrown by strikers. It is reported that but 25 strikebreakers remained in the shops after Marcus was injured.

Salina, Kan., Oct. 3.—The two boiler makers in the Union Pacific shops walked out and the union carmen and machinists are preparing to do so as soon as a strike order is received. At Ellis five boiler makers, one apprentice and all the carmen and machinists are out. The boiler makers are out at Junction City.

HOUNDS FAILED TO TAKE SCENT

Marysville, Kan., Oct. 3.—A report was received here that men supposed to be Neil Mulcahy and Dan Carney, the bank robbers who escaped from the county jail Sunday morning, had been seen in a cornfield south of here.

Concordia bloodhounds were telephoned for, but failed to take the scent.

A reward of $500 each for the capture of the prisoners has been offered by the Kansas Bankers' Surety company.

Cedervale Has $30,000 Fire.

Sedan, Kan., Oct. 3.—The business district of Cedarvale was swept by a fire which destroyed the Central Hardware company's stock and building, the postoffice building, the Leonard drug store, the Chapman jewelry store and the Hall restaurant. The Adam Mercantile company's warehouse and the Whitney drug store also were damaged. The total loss is about $30,000 with about $20,000 insurance. The fire started in the rear of the hardware store.
